----	---	------------------

The government's responses to all of these motions are due this Thursday, April 30, 2020. The government intends to file four briefs responding to the motions described in numbers 1-8. The government intends to file one additional omnibus brief responding to the motions described in numbers 9-18, as many of the arguments raised in those motions are related and the government believes a consolidated response will be more efficient.

Given the number of briefs filed by the defendants at one time, and the various issues raised in each, the government respectfully requests an additional week and one day, until May 8, 2020, to file its omnibus response to the motions listed in numbers 9-18. The government does not seek additional time to file its responses to the motions listed in numbers 1-8. In addition, since the government intends to respond to 10 briefs (totaling approximately 175 pages) in one, the government seeks permission to file an oversized brief of approximately 85 pages. The defendants assent to both of the government's requests.

Respectfully submitted,

ANDREW E. LELLING
United States Attorney
